

Current Contents

Past Issues

Reviews

□ The St Louis Court Brief: Debating audience 'effects' in public

Particip@tions Volume 1, Issue 1 (November 2003)

*Scholars Joining the Brief

Sarah Banet-Weiser, Assistant Professor, Annenberg School for Communication, University of Southern California

Martin Barker, Professor of Film and Television Studies, University of Wales, Aberystwyth

David Buckingham, Professor of Education, London University, England

Francis Couvares, Dean and Professor of History and American Studies, Amherst
College

Jane Yellowlees Douglas, Associate Professor of English, University of Florida

Christopher J. Ferguson, Lecturer in Psychology, University of Central Florida

Stuart Fischhoff, Professor of Psychology, California State University - Los Angeles

Jib Fowles, Professor of Communication, University of Houston - Clear Lake

Todd Gitlin, Professor of Journalism and Sociology, Columbia University

Robert Horwitz, Professor of Communication, University of California - San Diego

Henry Jenkins, Director of the Program in Comparative Media Studies, Massachusetts
Institute of Technology

Gerard Jones, Author, founder of the Art & Story Workshops

Chuck Kleinhans, Director of Graduate Studies, Dep't of Radio, Television, and Film, Northwestern University

Peter Lehman, Director of Interdisciplinary Humanities Program, Arizona State University

Jon Lewis, Professor of English, Oregon State University

Mike Males, Senior Researcher, Center on Juvenile and Criminal Justice; Sociology
Instructor, University of California - Santa Cruz

Richard Maltby, Head, School of Humanities, Flinders University, Australia

Frans Mäyrä, Professor and Deputy Director of the Hypermedia Laboratory, University of Tampere, Finland

Tara McPherson, Associate Professor of Gender Studies and Critical Studies, University of Southern California

Jane Mills, Honorary Associate, University of Sydney; Senior Research Associate, Australian Film, Television and Radio School

Stuart Moulthrop, Professor of Language, Literature, and Communications, University of Baltimore

Celia Pearce, Games Researcher, University of California - Irvine

Constance Penley, Professor and Director of the Center for Film, Television, & New Media, University of California - Santa Barbara

Julian Petley, Professor of Sociology and Communications, Brunel University, London, England

Richard Porton, Author, Editor, Cineaste magazine

Angelo Restivo, Assistant Professor of Film Studies, Department of English, East

Carolina University

Richard Rhodes, Science Historian, Pulitzer Prize Laureate

Ellen E. Seiter, Professor of Communication, University of California - San Diego

Vivian Sobchack, Associate Dean and Professor of Film and Television Studies, University of California - Los Angeles

Sue Turnbull, Senior Lecturer in Media Studies, La Trobe University, Australia

Thomas Waugh, Professor of Film Studies, Concordia University, Montreal

Linda Williams, Professor of Film Studies, University of California - Berkeley

Ellen Wolock, Ed.D., Managing Editor, Children's Software Revue

